St. Paul Concert Series 2011– 2012

Inspiration

Sunday, October 9 at 4 p.m.
Cheryl Crandall-Hernandez &
Chris Hernandez, Voice
Chris Winn, Piano

Cheryl Crandall-Hernandez has been a frequent inspiration to our concert audience for the past 10 years. This concert features Cheryl's most inspirational and beautiful melodies. Cheryl's son, Chris, is an accomplished vocalist/composer/guitarist. His compositional voice surprises when blended with his maturity of thought. You will be inspired by this concert.

Concert of Remembrance~Hope

Sunday, November 6 at 4 p.m.
Rich Chasin, Trumpet
Chris Winn, Piano/Voice

Our Concert of Remembrance will leave you with a joyous "Hope". Rich will be playing the beautiful 1st movement of the Tartini Trumpet Concerto, the haunting Hymn to Hope, Piazzolla's Spring, The Overture from Carousel and the New Orleans' standard, Just a Closer Walk. The tone colors of this program feature an entire array of trumpets along with Chris Winn's vocal and pianist accompaniment.

Christmas ~ Joy

Sunday, December 11 at 4 p.m.
Ruth Bruegger, Violin, Patrick Rosalez, Viola
Greg Adamson, Cello, Chris Winn, Piano

The sounds of Christmas bring joy to any heart! Themes from The Nutcracker ballet, Ukrainian Bell Carol, Happy Chanukkah my Friend, Silver Bells, O Holy Night and of course a few surprises! The program includes holiday themes that reflect our rich cultural diversity.

Piano Quartet Concert ~ Martinu Piano Quartet

January 8 at 4 p.m.
Ruth Bruegger, Violin
Patrick Rosalez, Viola
Greg Adamson, Cello
Chris Winn, Piano

a result of analyses. I do not think that it is necessary for the public to enter the laboratory, where it understands nothing, and where the artist himself sometimes needs to reflect a long time in order to grasp the meaning of things." ~Bohuslav Martinu

Bohuslav Martinu (1890 – 1959)

The main attraction in this concert is also the bumper music for KUSC's Classical Music with Jim Svejda. It is the Piano Quartet No. 1 by Bohuslav Martinu. A few words from our composer: "I think I am better at writing music than in writing about it. I do not like placing the creative process under a microscope, to explain a work, to look at the molecules (so to speak) instead of examining the body as a whole. So far as I am concerned, a work should live by itself, and not as

Piano Quartet

February 12 at 4 p.m.
Karen Hansen, Soprano;
Ruth Bruegger, Violin
Patrick Rosalez, Viola;
Greg Adamson, Cello;
Chris Winn, Piano

This concert is a nod to Valentine's day with stimulating, thoughtful poetic tunes. Hoagy Carmichael's Sky-lark and Kurt Weill's I'm a Stranger Here Myself.

A little Gypsy violin, surprising viola transcriptions and operatic cello!

Piano Quartet ~ Dvorak Piano Quintet and Glass String Quartet #5

March 11 at 4 p.m.

Ruth Bruegger, Violin, Sharon Harmon, Violin, Patrick Rosalez,
Viola, Greg Adamson, Cello, Chris Winn, Piano

Philip Glass is one of the most prolific and distinguished composers of the 20th Century. He has been nominated for three Academy Awards and scored dozens of operas, films and plays, and released symphonic compositions and solo work. His work is frequently characterised by repetitive and minimalistic structures.

Our time together includes the Glass String Quartet #5. The program also includes the sumptuous Dvorak Piano Quintet. Just a note, you can find a video of Condolezza Rice playing this beautiful piece on Youtube.com. Just saying!
